

IMS POLICY

Testa Limited is committed to providing reliable, conscientious, safe and assured NDT inspection and services across all sectors. In line with our values and culture, we are committed to the continuous improvement of our management system to meet and exceed the standards set out in ISO9001:2015 and ISO45001:2018.

Testa's priority is to provide quality services that exceed the expectations of our customers and ensure healthy and safe working environments for our employees.

Testa will achieve this by:

- Maintaining a robust, effective internal audit of the management system
- Continually improving and reviewing the management system including policies, procedures and working practices
- Creating a culture for continuous improvement, realistic objectives and implementation of risk-based assessment to ensure management resources in all quality and health and safety matters and include these in the company business plan
- Complying with all government laws and regulatory bodies applicable directly to Testa and our customer businesses, maintaining knowledge of changes and embedding this within our policies and procedures
- Ensuring any changes to the management system is controlled by the director and reflect the changing objectives, risks and context of the company
- Ascertaining feedback and utilising this to improve our services to ensure we are satisfying and exceeding our customers' needs and expectations
- Making commitments we fully understand and believe we can meet through transparent communication and planning of services within the agreed timescale
- Always performing our work in a responsible and professional manner by adhering to the code of conduct and Testa's values
- Using qualified, experienced and reliable staff who share Testa's values with the capabilities to achieve our goals
- Providing policies and procedures, training, induction and continuous professional development to employees to ensure their health, safety and wellbeing at work
- Conducting health and safety risk assessments and method statements of all clients' sites and work activities and ensuring all relevant employees understand and have this information
- Ensuring all reasonable measures are taken to prevent accidents and risks to employees and anyone affected by Testa's work activities
- Consulting our employees in matters related to their health and safety
- Utilising the management system to analyse data and evidence drawn from the results and pursue the highest possible standards of Quality, Health and Safety performance

This policy is shared with all customers, interested parties and cascaded through Testa to all employees.
